Tips for Engaging Seminoles From Home

HOST ONLINE SEMINOLE TRIVIA

The Jeopardy! style Florida State trivia you've seen at Leadership Weekend has been updated for 2020 and can serve as a great way to gather folks, encourage interaction and help those families with school aged Seminoles to have a fun resource for teaching their at-home students about Florida State. With the Sports Jeopardy & Campus-Based Jeopardy, there is a category for everyone and provides content for multiple events.

SEMINOLE COMMUNITY HAPPY HOURS

Put a new spin on the popular Zoom! Happy Hours to connect Seminoles who share common traits or experiences. Easily adaptable to your geographic and demographic needs, Happy Hours can help connect new Seminoles and provide a necessary outlet in uncertain times.

Gather by:

- Seminoles who lived on campus by dorm.
- Extracurricular activity participants such as the Marching Chiefs, Greek Life, Lady Spirithunters or experience based groups

FLASHBACKS

Post pictures, videos and other memories from past club or chapter events. This can remind people of great experiences, foster brainstorming on future events and allow club leaders to make connections with those who engage with the posts.

ANNOUNCE YOUR SCHOLARSHIP

Once your information is in to Emma and/or Beth, let those local students who will qualify know to apply for your gifts. Emma can provide direct links for both cash awards (our website) and endowed scholarship awards (Academic Works).

SUPPORT & ENCOURAGE YOUR LOCAL NOLES

Much GOOD is actually being seen in a time full of difficulty for many. Make a post welcoming your local Seminoles to share their stories of unity, positive community happenings and provide a chance to celebrate much needed good news. In addition, our team can provide links to articles on maintaining positive mental health during this time.
